

Community Social Support Needs and Barriers for Autistic Adults in Canada

Results from the Canadian Autistic Adult Needs Assessment Project

Community-Based Social Support

Needs

Barriers

Increased offerings of community-based social supports for Autistic adults

More supports for advocacy, awareness, and acceptance

Enhanced services designed to support the entirety of the spectrum across needs, abilities, and intersecting identities

Insufficient affordability, accessibility, and inclusion

Lack of diverse programming that suits Autistic needs

Difficulty finding and accessing community-based social supports

Read the full report:
<http://autismalliance.ca/Adult-Needs-Report-Phase-2>